Mr. Lee-Marks, Publisher, 23 Union Square, dom's triumph was beyond what New York. even his most sanguine friends anticipated, and is a high compliment to his ability and popularity.

The Republican caucus nominated Ex-Speaker Keifer as their candidate for Speaker, but not more than half the Republican members attended the caueus, and fifteen of those present voted for Mr. Robinson, Governor-elect of Massachusetts. Under the circumstances Mr. Keifer would have shown more wisdom had he declined to be a candidate, as he 'was advised to do by some of his friends. But he persisted in forcing his claims, and has only himself to thank for the mortification he must have experienced in failing to receive the unanimous support of his party.

Mr. Randall received 50 votes for Speaker in the Democratic caucus and Mr. Cox of New York, 44, but had their votes been united, Mr. Carlisle had a majority of 10 over
